WEBINAR: The Professional Behavior Analyst: Raising the Standards for What it Means to be Professional

Friday, April 28, 2017

10-11:45 am PST

Cost: $70 (Includes 2 Ethics BACB CEUs!)

As a behavior analyst you were trained to provide effective and efficient services to your clients and students. You took numerous classes on best clinical practice; you spent countless hours accruing clinical experience; and you studied for months to pass a rigorous clinical exam. However, of those classes and experiences, how much of it taught you what it means to be a professional in the medical and mental health service industry? How much were you taught about leadership? About business etiquette?

This webinar is designed for the professional behavior analyst to gain more insight to be an effective and respected professional in the business, educational, and consulting world. As a participant, you will learn about the parallels and differences between professionalism and ethics, better understand how the BACB Professional and Ethical Compliance Code for Behavior Analysts can be used to address professional challenges, and learn tried and true strategies for holding those who practice behavior analysis professionally to a higher standard.

Presented by Chris Jones,
Ph.D., BCBA-D

Dr. Jones is a full-time consulting staff member at the Haring Center. His past research at the University of Puget Sound and the University of Washington concentrated on social and communication skills for children and young adults with autism and other mental health issues. In addition to his training as both a developmental psychologist and behavior analyst, Dr. Jones has over two decades of clinical experience. Dr. Jones has published in peer reviewed journals and presented in workshops and conferences locally and nationally. He served as president of the Washington Association for Behavior Analysis, works administratively as the director of operations for an ABA business, and consults widely on business matters for ABA businesses in Washington State and across the country.
