ABA Business Series: 102 Clinical Fundamentals

Are you interested in launching your own Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) business? Do you want to learn more about ABA business management at your own pace, anytime, anywhere? This recorded webinar is the second part of our ABA Business Series webinars. These practical and applied webinars in this series will walk participants through the often complicated steps in running an ABA company in today's business climate. While information presented will be introductory in nature, it will serve as a "checks and balances" role for new ABA businesses to gauge if the administrative and clinical processes they are engaging in are correct and comprehensive. It will also open the door to prospective behavior analysts who are considering opening up their own company.

ABA 102: Clinical Fundamentals

Cost: $55 (includes 1.5, Type 2 CEUs)

The second part of this Business Series: ABA 102 will have a clinical focus that concentrates on how to manage the clinical responsibilities needed in effective and ethical programming from a leadership perspective. Topics will include components of handling referrals, authorizations, conducting intakes, assessment and reassessment, functional behavior assessment, treatment planning, technician vs. BCBA delivery of therapy, supervision, care coordination, ethical clinical decision making, insurance/funding source constraints, and discharge, as well as general overall clinical management strategies typical of a clinical director.

Presented by Chris Jones, Ph.D., BCBA-D

Dr. Jones is a full-time consulting staff member at the Haring Center. His past research at the University of Puget Sound and the University of Washington concentrated on social and communication skills for children and young adults with autism and other mental health issues. In addition to his training as both a developmental psychologist and behavior analyst, Dr. Jones has over two decades of clinical experience.

Dr. Jones has published in peer reviewed journals and presented in workshops and conferences locally and nationally. He served as president of the Washington Association for Behavior Analysis, works administratively as the director of operations for an ABA business, and consults widely on business matters for ABA businesses in Washington state and across the country.
